ADDRESS

Myton Hall Farm
Moor Lane, Myton-on-Swale
York. YO61 2RA.

DIRECTIONS

Myton-on-Swale is situated east of the river swale and has limited approaches from the west.

I have found it easiest to access from Helperby, though there is also an approach from the cash only Aldwark toll bridge.

YHA TRAINING DAY

Want to learn how to lay hedges in the Yorkshire style correctly?

The Yorkshire Hedge Laying Training Day is the 31st of October 2026

This ancient heritage skill is disappearing from our countryside. By managing a hedge by 'laying' extends their life. A well-laid hedge can function as a barrier to livestock as well as providing protection and shelter from the worst of winter weather. Hedgerows form a vital network for wildlife to move through the natural environment.

The training will suit complete beginners or those wanting to improve on their existing hedge laying skills.

Wear thorn proof clothing, sturdy footwear, gloves and goggles. Tools will be provided on the course, however if you have your own billhook, axe, loppers, pruning saw which you would normally use then bring these with you.

Bring your own lunch. Refreshments will be available.

The course has a nominal fee of thirty-five pounds per person.
Booking essential to secure your place.

RULES

Hedges are to be laid true to the Yorkshire style.

All dead wood to be removed.

All layers to be in line over the stools.

The finished hedge is to be 3ft high including the top rail.

The finished hedge length must join with the next section.

An assistant to those in the Novice Class may help more than one competitor.

It's a young hedge this year so ideally thick heavy wood layed low to the ground with stobs cut low and only thin tips under the top rail.

The draw for plots will be at 8.30am prompt.

Breakfast buttie and a brew at 10:00am

Lunch from 12:00pm

Work must be finished by 3.00pm prompt.

All competitors using chainsaws must:

- wear currently prescribed protective clothing.
- hold a current certificate of competence.
- no top-handled chainsaws allowed.

The Association cannot be held responsible in the event of any accident or for lost, stolen or damaged property.
